International Conference on Maritime Policy, Technology and Education

ANNOUNCEMENT TWO

Shipping, the most international industry, is renowned as the lifeblood of the world development. "Shipping: indispensable to the world" is therefore endorsed by the International Maritime Organization (IMO) as the theme of World Maritime Day for the year of 2016. And increasing economic globalization will assuredly further boost human activities in understanding, exploring and using oceans. However, the continued global economic recession, rapid technological advancement, urgent need to protect the environment as well as more complicated navigational circumstances at sea are bringing both new opportunities and new challenges to such maritime clusters as the progression of seafarers' career, protection of marine environment, enhancement of maritime safety and security, efficiency of maritime administration and sustainability of maritime education and training.

In order to strengthen the academic exchange and cooperation in the international maritime community, share the latest scientific and technological innovation and promote the prosperity of the shipping industry, Shanghai Maritime University of China and Southampton Solent University of United Kingdoms will jointly host the 15th International Conference on Maritime Policy, Technology and Education (ICMPTE 2016) in Shanghai, May 26-27, 2016. As the registration fee is covered by the financial sponsorship from the Merchant Marine College of Shanghai Maritime University and the Shanghai Pilots' Association, participants are only responsible for the transportation and accommodation fees. And Papers collected in the Conference will be compiled and officially published.
