

The SINDISWA CAROL 'TU' NHLUMAYO

MERIT BURSARY

PhD QUALIFICATION

APPLICATION FORM

Ms Sindiswa Nhlumayo was the Executive Head of the Centre for Maritime Excellence at the South African Maritime Safety Authority (SAMSA). She was responsible for promoting and driving the growth of skills and human capacity in the Maritime Sector, promoting research, development and innovation and unleashing opportunities for economic development lying in our coastal areas and inland waterways. She was directly responsible for spearheading and implementing the National Maritime Cadetship Programme (including spearheading the training of Cadets on the Dedicated Training Vessel, the SA Agulhas 1) and creating awareness of maritime careers, jobs, business and recreational opportunities, and by so doing, introducing our youth to the maritime sector. In recognition of career work contributions, Ms Nhlumayo received many accolades including the IPM 'Business Leader of the Year' 2015 award, the Oliver Empowerment 2013 Best Female Public Servant award, this in addition to yet another award she had received from the University of Durban Westville (University of KZN) for being an exemplary alumni.

The SINDISWA CAROL 'TU' NHLUMAYO MERIT BURSARY will provide an opportunity for young women from previously disadvantaged, designated groups to pursue a career in maritime related fields. To further support the beneficiaries of the bursary, it is proposed that they should also be afforded an opportunity to participate in organised bodies such as Women in Maritime Africa (WIMA) and other bodies for women in science. SAIMI will foster partnerships with organisations that support women in maritime to focus on the empowerment and to create networks that will enable future endeavours for the beneficiaries.

The bursary award will include the following:

- Full academic bursary – cost of tuition fees and textbooks.
- Opportunity to attend SAIMI hosted Conferences and some locally organised maritime events.
- Opportunity to participate in organised bodies in maritime and science.
